

Korea health checkup visitor guide

A visitor guide for comparing screening packages, fasting rules, imaging add-ons, translated results and follow-up questions.

15 pages • 10 min

For travelers considering executive checkups, endoscopy, CT, ultrasound or translated health screening in Korea.

Checkups

- Package comparison
- Fasting prep
- Result follow-up

Korea health checkup visitor guide

- Check fasting and medication instructions before arrival.
- Compare package tests by body system, not package name only.
- Ask whether translation is included in results.
- Confirm sedation, escort and recovery requirements.
- Keep imaging copies and lab references for your doctor at home.
- Plan follow-up if a result needs additional care.

1. Compare tests, not package names

A premium-sounding package is not always broader. Compare blood tests, imaging, endoscopy, ultrasound and consultation components line by line.

2. Prepare for fasting and sedation

Check food, water, medication and escort rules early. Some procedures require rest time and cannot be squeezed between sightseeing plans.

3. Ask about translated results

Visitors need clear result language and a way to ask follow-up questions after returning home.

4. Carry records home

Save lab values, imaging files and referral notes so your home doctor can interpret them in context.

KMP Korea medical booking guides